Software makes business technology work.

It helps organize, evaluate, communicate, and in short, do all the things that help you stay competitive. That is why Technology Consulting Inc. offers The Advanced Solution Center. We have invested in the facility, the people, the hardware and software to provide the results that are critical to your business success. All available to you on an as needed basis.

The Advanced Solution Center delivers results by developing cost-effective application software customized to the unique demands of your business. We use the latest tools to identify the most effective and progressive techniques for each project, and deliver structured programs that are fully debugged, fully tested, well documented and ready for implementation.

Our staff of professionals offers you the expertise required for effective applications of technology.

We work with you to create effective strategies that meet the unique demands of your business.

Our current facility supports multiple projects involving a broad range of mainframe, mid-range, client-server, micro-based and web-based technologies. TCI maintains relationships with leading software manufacturers to insure that the ASC has the most up-to-date software library. The ASC functions as a full cycle development center or as a temporary peak load resource to meet critical application deadlines.

The ability to effectively communicate with our clients is a major ingredient for successful partnership. We are committed through ongoing communications to provide the high quality results your business demands. Activities such as Task Prioritization, Progress Updates, Change Control and Response and Resource Allocation are supported and provided by using the latest technologies.

Now is the time for your organization to achieve the maximum return from available technology.

The Advanced Solution Center builds upon our experience, as one of the largest professional services firms based in the Southeast, to uniquely offer you the resources you need to achieve your objectives. As your technology partner Technology Consulting Inc., and The Advanced Solution Center, stand ready to turn your business opportunities into results.
