TCI  TECHNOLOGY
CONSULTING
INC.

Increasing global competition and customer demands for faster responses make it more difficult for organizations to meet their strategic goals. Companies must rapidly respond to challenges and opportunities. If not, their “window of opportunity” closes and competitive advantage erodes. ■ In this unforgiving business environment, Information rises to the highest level of importance and visibility. Current, accurate information for decision making is vital and often a strategic weapon that affects revenues, profits, market share and customer satisfaction. Unfortunately for many companies, building systems to supply this information has become complex and the backlog is larger than ever. New systems are delivered too late and don't live up to expectations. The “window of opportunity” is missed. ■ There is good news however. Among the stories of backlog and unfulfilled promises, there are more and more success stories. No one knows this better than Technology Consulting, Inc.

and our customers.
